

DILLINGER COMMUNICATED WITH GANG FROM JAIL

ARGUMENTS IN WYNEKOOP CASE
STARTED TODAY

But One Witness Is Left to be Heard at Recess this Noon

Criminal Courts Building, Chicago, March 5—(AP)—Only one witness remained today to be heard in the trial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynkoop, charged with the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta. As the case recessed at lunch time, Judge Harry B. Miller informed the jurors that final arguments would begin after the testimony of Stanley Young, companion of Earle Wynkoop, husband of the slain girl, had been heard.

The state announced it wanted to call Young to establish an alibi for Earle, by showing that he was far from the scene at the time.

Heated Clash
A heated clash which for a time looked as though it might come to blows occurred outside the court room following the appearance in the box of Frank Donohue, a police officer assigned to the Coroner's office.

Donohue had testified that he had never made certain remarks attributed to him by Walker Wynkoop, son of the defendant, on the stand a few days ago.

Blazing with anger, Walker but-tonholed Donohue as he strode down the hall.

Finally Subdued
"You know you said it, you know—well you did," Walker shouted.

Donohue sought to pacify him, but Walker became more heated in his condemnation.

The Rev. John Henry Hopkins, elderly spiritual adviser to Dr. Wynkoop, approached to see what the trouble was, but decided he would not interfere. Lieut. Samuel Peterson and Attorney Frank J. Tyrell of the defense finally succeeded in persuading Walker to leave.

PRINCESS GETS VERDICT TODAY
IN LIBEL SUIT

Is Awarded $125,000
from Maker of "Rasputin and Empress"

London, March 5—(AP)—The jury in the libel suit of Princess Irena Youssouffoff today awarded her $25,000—$125,000—against Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Ltd., makers of the film "Rasputin and the Empress."

The award was made after a dramatic trial in which Princess Youssouffoff testified that he was one of the group who killed the mad monk of Russia, the slaying pictured in the film.

Princess Irena testified that the character Natasha, in the picture, was a libel on herself.

The attorneys representing Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contended the character Natasha was purely fictional.

In the course of the trial Princess Irena said she intended to sue every individual theatre which had shown the picture, widely used throughout the United States as well as England.

The jury's verdict came after only a short deliberation.

Increased Wages And Shorter Hours Asked
Of Industry By ChiefPresident Roosevelt
Addresses NRA Code
Authorities Today

Washington, March 5—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked American industry today for "immediate cooperation to secure increase in wages and shortening of hours."

"It is the immediate task of industry to re-employ more people at purchasing wages and to do it now," he declared.

Speaking to the several thousand members of NRA's code authorities, assembled in Constitution Hall for a three-day review of the industrial control program, he warned that "the government cannot forever continue to absorb the whole burden of unemployment."

He called for greater protection of small business, terming the code authority "the keeper of your small industrial brother."

He said the anti-trust laws "must continue in their major purpose of retaining competition and preventing monopoly."

He demanded that "every corporation in the United States" give its workers free choice to organize themselves and "obviate that 'those two words' 'free choice' mean just what they say."

Government Will Act
Saying he knew industry with few exceptions would give wholehearted compliance, the President warned that in these exceptions "the government itself must and will under the law move firmly and promptly to prevent failure."

He contended that industry must keep to "the lowest schedule of prices, which higher wages and increasing employment can be maintained."

For the future, he said, "the (Continued on Page Two)

OF DAICHES' END

Rich Advertising Man
Pleaded For Time to Raise Money

Chicago, March 5—(AP)—Extortionists were suspected today in the machine gun slaying of Eli Daiches, wealthy advertising executive, murdered Saturday as he motored along South Lake Shore Drive.

A theory they killed him after a vain effort to squeeze $40,000 from him gained apparent support from information given to police by Miss Lucille Osborn, private nurse at the Daiches home.

She said that two days before his death she overheard her employer plead over the telephone for a "few more days" to raise $40,000.

A host of other theories were checked and police expressed confidence they would penetrate the mystery.

What Police Learned
Police said an investigation of the victim's private life, as related by business associates and friends, disclosed:

That Daiches was the victim of a "mysterious" attack which he refused to discuss with any one.

That he was a lavish spender; that he carried $200,000 in life insurance;

That he spent about $100 a week on Mrs. Lillian O'Shea, aviatrix and former actress.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Egan quoted Mrs. O'Shea as saying Daiches first became "personally interested" in her several years ago when she called at his agency seeking employment.

She was separated from her husband at that time, police said.

Sidney A. Weitzman, officer of the agency, said Daiches was generous, competent, but somewhat boastful and rude to strangers.

collapse of his enterprises.

An order for his expulsion was ordered Saturday, but just how or when it was to have taken effect remained in doubt until the Minister's announcement.

Earlier Insull was described as unwilling to prolong his fight to remain in his Athenian retreat.

A friend said that Insull had committed "I am old and sick. I will go home and die."

There were no signs around the Insull apartment that preparations were being made for a departure.

Insull had not applied for either a Greek travel permit or a new American passport.

Pointed Words
From Address to
Code Authorities

Washington, March 5—(AP)—Some pointed sentences from President Roosevelt's address today to NRA code authorities:

"It is sufficient for me to point out once more that the difficult and dangerous situation into which the United States had got itself (last year) was due to the general attitude. 'Every man for himself; the devil take the hindmost.'"

"We did not know as much then as we know now and because our eyes have been opened it is possible that future history will call that crazy decade of 1919 to 1929 one of the greatest blessings that ever came to the American people."

"The real truth of the matter is that for a number of years in our country the machinery of democracy had failed to function."

"The National Industrial Recovery Act was drawn with the greatest good of the greatest number in mind."

"In this great evolution through which we are passing, the average American is doing splendid service by coming back at the capricious critic and saying to him, 'Well, old man, what do YOU suggest?'"

"Every examination I make, and all the information I receive lead me to the inescapable conclusion that we must now consider immediate cooperation to secure increase in wages and shortening of hours."

"We must set up every safeguard against erasing the small operator from the economic scene."

"x x x We have arrived at the time for taking stock for correcting manifest errors, for rooting out demonstrated evils."

Mrs. W. W. Marshall, wife of the pastor of the First Baptist church of Dixon, whose illness since last September had been the source of continued anxiety on the part of her many friends, passed away at her home, 410 Ottawa Ave., at 8:30 o'clock this morning. Her death, while not unexpected, brought sorrow to all who knew the gracious and charming wife of the pastor.

Funeral services will be held at the Baptist church at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Dr. B. E. Allen of Rockford and Rev. Ira Fox of Freeport officiating, and with burial in Oakwood cemetery.

Mrs. Day, Former Polo Resident, is Pneumonia Victim

(Telegraph Special Service)
Polo, March 5—Mrs. Benjamin G. Day, nee, Corrine Bingham, passed away Saturday night at a hospital at Peoria, where she was suffering from an attack of pneumonia and where she was taken last Wednesday. Mrs. Day was born in Polo, July 18, 1874 and 15 years ago was united in marriage to Benjamin Day. Her sister, Mrs. Willard Atkins of this city, was summoned to Peoria last week when she became critically ill and was at her bedside when she passed away. Two sisters, Mrs. Atkins of Polo and Miss Josephine Bingham of West Virginia, and her husband survive. The remains will be brought overland from Peoria to Polo Tuesday for interment in Fairmount. Rev. John L. Tait, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a member, will conduct the service Tuesday afternoon.

Cut Appropriation for Bridge at R. I.

Washington, March 5—(AP)—A decrease of $4,400 in the appropriation for the maintenance of the Rock Island bridge at Rock Island, Ill., was recommended by Major General Samuel H. H. of Ordnance, in a report to Congress.

Hof asked that $27,300 be appropriated for care of the bridge in the fiscal year of 1935.

The reason for the decrease, he told the House Appropriations subcommittee, was because the budget did not provide for a higher figure.

CHAS. W. STEEL
LAST OF CIVIL WAR REGT. DEAD

Veteran Passed Away at Home in Oregon Early
This Morning

Charles W. Steel, the last member of the Thirty-Fourth Illinois regiment, and one of the few veterans who composed Dixon post 3, the Grand Army of the Republic, passed away at his home, 302 North Fifth street, Oregon, this morning at an early hour. He had been in failing health for some time. He, with the late George Richardson of this city, Commander of the local post, whose death took place two weeks ago, were the last survivors of the Illinois regiment which consisted chiefly of volunteers from the central counties.

Charles W. Steel was born in LaPorte, Ind., April 22, 1842 and at the age of two years, after the death of his mother, he was brought to Winnebago county to live. Within a short time the family moved to Byron where they resided briefly and then took up farming on Oak Ridge, north of Grand Detour, where the deceased grew to young manhood.

In the summer of 1861, he and several young men from the vicinity of Oak Ridge went to Pennsylvania Corners to attend a patriotic meeting which was addressed by Amos Bosworth, who later became a lieutenant colonel, and father of Amos Bosworth of this city, who had been appointed recruiting officer for that vicinity.

Enlisted in 1861

The following day, August 25, 1861, Mr. Steel together with several neighboring young men and another delegation from Grand Detour, enlisted in the Thirty-Fourth Illinois regiment. The regiment went to Cincinnati, Ohio, where they crossed the Ohio river into Kentucky and soon went into action, their first engagement being at Shiloh. They then participated in the battle of Stony River.

In this engagement, the deceased clearly recalled, seven color guards were shot down. Among these was his brother, William, whose body bore many bullet wounds and was left on the field as one of the many dead. "The brothers were some months later reunited in a rebel hospital where Charles nursed his brother back to health."

The deceased participated in 26 major engagements and on July 12, 1865, was promoted to the rank of corporal of his company. He was honorably discharged from service in 1865, and returned to the vicinity of Oak Ridge. He has continued to reside in this locality since and was well known in Oregon, Grand Detour and in Dixon, having resided in this city for some time.

Funeral services will be conducted from St. Peter's Episcopal church in Grand Detour Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Members of Dixon post No. 12, American Legion will have charge of the services at the grave.

South Bend Men, Caught in Fog on Saturday Afternoon, in Dangerous Plight; Set Plane Down at Walton

William Sheehan and Ansel Hoffman of South Bend, close friends of State's Attorney Edward Jones, had a thrilling experience Saturday afternoon while attempting to fly from Davenport to South Bend in a Stinson-Detroler plane belonging to the former. They had attended a testimonial banquet for Elmer Leyden at Davenport Friday night and were en route back to South Bend.

Becoming lost in the fog, they flew over Walnut and succeeded in reaching the Waterman airport, but because of their inability to distinguish the landing field, they were unable to set the plane down. They then headed the plane in

OF POLO MEETS
DEATH IN FOG

Killed in Collision of Cars South of Polo
Saturday Evening

Paul Langdon, aged 26, of Polo, was instantly killed Saturday evening, when the car in which he was riding crashed head on into another machine driven by Frank Kingsley, 604 Third street, this city near McGrath's corner, four miles south of Polo on state route No. 26. The accident took place during the heavy fog which endangered automobile traffic on all state roads and other highways in this locality both Friday and Saturday nights.

Each of the drivers is believed to have failed to see the other car. Miss Thelma Cupp, aged 16, of Polo, was a passenger in the Langdon car and she sustained only minor injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley were driving north toward Polo when the accident occurred, while Langdon was coming south towards Dixon. His body was thrown from his car and was pinned beneath the wreckage. City Marshal S. N. Dodson and State Highway Officer Rex Flach went to the scene and remained until the wreckage was cleared away. The occupants of the cars were taken to Polo where their injuries were dressed and then returned to their homes. None of the others was seriously injured.

An inquest into Langdon's death will be held next Saturday. Coroner J. C. Aiken of Forreston announced. Langdon is survived by his widow, two small children and his mother, Mrs. Stata Fredericks. Funeral services will be held from the Langdon residence in Polo on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and from the Church of the Brethren at 2:30, the pastor, Rev. Arthur Warner, officiating and with interment in Fairmount.

Second Collision
Charles Haenisch, residing east of Dixon, suffered minor injuries Sunday morning about 2 o'clock in a collision of two cars a short distance east of Franklin Grove on the Lincoln Highway. Both drivers were unable to see because of the heavy fog and the cars crashed head on. Inability to locate state highway police, resulted in Sheriff Fred Richardson being called to the scene and both wrecked cars were hauled to garages. None of the occupants of either of the cars was seriously injured. One of the drivers was said to have been attempting to operate his car through the heavy fog without lights.

Norfolk, Va., March 5—(AP)—Two Navy fliers are believed to have lost their lives when their plane dived into Hampton Roads just off the C. & O. coal piers at Newport News early today.

The plane was piloted by Lieutenant W. P. Davis. He had as passenger Aviation Mechanic Mate Matt David Marchall.

A diver from the Norfolk Naval base attempted to raise the wreckage of the plane, while overhead every available plane from the Naval air base searched the waters of Hampton Roads in the hope that the occupants of the plane might still be afloat.

The crash occurred soon after 8 A. M. CST.

At the Naval air base it was stated no word had been received from either Lieutenant Davis or Marchall.

Investigations Start as the Desperado Keeps Ahead of Law

Crown Point, Ind., March 5—(AP)—Evidence that John Dillinger had been in frequent communication with members of his outlaw gang while confined in the Lake county jail was uncovered today as five investigations went forward into his amazing escape from the jail with a wooden pistol last Saturday.

Jail attaches identified pictures of Elaine Burton, sweetheart of John Hamilton, as a woman who posed as Dillinger's wife and visited him several times in his cell. Hamilton is the only leader in Dillinger's notorious band who has not been captured.

She visited Dillinger a number of times, jail officials said, and sometimes talked with him outside the presence of guards. They said their last visit was last Thursday—two days before Dillinger's escape.

Dillinger remained free today, hunted in half a dozen states, while three vigorous investigations got under way to fix responsibility for his brazen break Saturday from Crown Point, Indiana's "escape proof" jail.

The slippery desperado, who surprised everyone, especially his woman custodian—Sheriff Lillian Holley—by bluffing his way to freedom, remained a jump ahead of the law while a triple investigation was underway to determine how he managed to escape.

Rumors that a "fix" might have entered into his sensational getaway were heard. County Prosecutor Robert G. Estill of Lake county, Ind., announced that the results of inquiry by him would be turned over to the grand jury.

A state investigation, ordered by Governor Paul McNutt of Indiana, is also in progress, with Assistant Attorney General Edward C. Bares and Roy Hullett, an investigator, in charge.

Another inquiry was undertaken by Judge William J. Murray before whom Dillinger was to have been tried for slaying Policeman Patrick O'Malley in an East Chicago, Ind., bank holdup.

Sheriff Won't Quit
The Lake county Board of Commissioners was called to meet in special session today to consider the escape. Reports were current that Sheriff Holley's resignation would be demanded. She was said, however, that she will not quit.

The hunt for the desperado spread today in all directions. The highways of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Missouri were carefully watched for Dillinger and his Negro companion, Herbert A. Youngblood, who used Sheriff Holley's automobile (a Ford with Indiana license number 679329, with red and green headlights), to make their escape.

Daniel Webster Writes on "FRIENDSHIP"

Stores of dry and learned lore we gain,
We keep them in the memory of the brain;
Names, things, and facts—whatever we know,
There is the common ledger for them all;
And images on this cold surface traced
Make slight impression, and are soon effaced.
But we've a page, more glowing and more bright,
On which our friendship and our love to write;
That these may never from the soul depart,
We trust them to the memory of the heart.
There is no dimming, no effacement there;
Each new pulsation keeps the record clear;
Warm, golden letters all the table fill,
Nor lose their lustre till the heart stand still.

PRACTICAL CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY

The Practical club will meet on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. I. B. Potter, 315 Ottawa avenue.

High Lights of News on the Avenue

In making the rounds on the avenue today, it became apparent from the window displays and from the fresh, attractive stocks in the various stores, that although "Winter lingers in the lap of Spring," that gay and festive lady is beginning to flit with Mother Earth and some fine morning we will awaken to balmy breezes and the music of song birds. Anyway, when one glimpses jonquils, narcissus, snap dragons, and tulips—the florists' windows one knows spring is just around the corner.

Really, it has been a wonderful winter, and we are grateful. Grateful, meaning full of gratitude. An old lady told us once that one of the besetting sins of the human race was ingratitude—and the young class addressed started to laugh it off, when she said, "Now just think that over and you'll agree with me." And it is a fact—ingratitude is one of the chief sins.

One pertinent fact is made clear each day to one who has visited Dixon stores daily for years, and that fact is the unflinching courtesy afforded everyone who steps inside our local stores. One is greeted by smiling, efficient sales people and by gracious proprietors, such as the oblong and urbane H. M. Rasch of the Gelsenheimer store; the keen and witty Ed Valle of the Valle & O'Malley Clothing Store; the steady-eyed Charles Miller of the Boynton-Richards Clothing store; the versatile Victor Eichler of the Eichler Dry Goods Co., or Joe Eichler, suave proprietor of the Eichler Bros. Shoe Annex; or Geo. Campbell, Tom Sullivan, Robert Thompson, courteous druggists.

Then at the Gift & Art Shop, the Misses Meppen greet one with happy efficiency, also Mrs. Helen Shickley, of the Shickley Millinery under the same roof. Mrs. Edna Nattress in the ready-to-wear line, greets one with a smile and a low, smooth voice; Mrs. J. W. Sipe, ready-to-wear, millinery, has an infectious smile and good selling ability; and Mrs. William Harkins and Mrs. Harry Beard, both leaders in ladies ready to wear, and millinery, and Mrs. Pauline Daehler, also top notch in this line, are all noted for their kindness and good business ability. Our grocerias and our confectionery stores, our restaurants, book shops, etc., etc., are all places where courtesy is the one thing one is most aware of. Many places of business, not quoted, are noted for courtesy and efficiency.

S. M. Swartz of Kline's, R. W. Kehrt of Newberry's, R. McIntosh of Scott's, Glenn Cortright of the National, R. W. Plowman, and the polite Mr. Marth of Marth's Grocery, are all examples of what the up-to-date merchant should be. James Cledon and John Fosselman, William Cahill, George O'Malley, Walter Cromwell, Clark Richard, E. C. Kennedy, Mr. Wohl, are other names coming to mind when obliging merchants are mentioned. More of this some other time.

Mrs. Horace Wright of Oregon visited in Dixon today and was a shopper in our stores, lingering at the attractive displays in the Trein Jewelry store.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McInyre of Fort Wayne, Ind., who have been visiting Dixon, shopped in the Overstreet Jewelry store today for a wedding gift for a relative.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sipe have been spending the week end in Anderson, Ind., visiting relatives, motoring there. They were accompanied home by Mrs. A. L. Perkins, mother of Mrs. Sipe who will make her home here with her daughter and son-in-law, Mrs. Sipe.

Right now is the quiet time in all shops—the pause that comes just before the annual spring flurry in Easter shopping, and it is Lent, the season of soul searching and repentance, of prayer and brave resolutions to look forward to the future with grace and fortitude.

The spring and summer frocks, the spring suits, the intriguing hats, and accessories are all displayed with much taste in the Dixon stores and midday find everything in these stores for her Easter ensemble. And wee Willie and Mary will revel in the delightful Easter baskets and novelties for the kiddies.

A gracious little anecdote recalled at the Actors' Dinner Club the other night; Minnie Madden Fiske once found in her dressing room a note which read: "Margaret Anglin says Mrs. Fiske is the best actress in the world." Mrs. Fiske added a couple of commas and sent the note back to Miss Anglin, who read it thus: "Margaret Anglin, says Mrs. Fiske, is the best actress in the world."

In at "Jimmie's" (Cledon's Confectionery), we saw a nicely maneuvered group of high school students. One of the main reasons they gather there may be attributed to the presence of Paul Potts, the modest and obliging head clerk, who not so long ago, was a high school student, himself.

Bemis-Eshbaugh Wedding Noted
Supervisor and Mrs. J. C. Bemis of Nashua township announce the marriage of their daughter, Laila Evelyn, to R. Harold Eshbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eshbaugh of White Rock township, the marriage being solemnized by Rev. William H. Fulton, Rockford First Presbyterian church at his home on Saturday, February 24. Attendees were Miss Ma. Mae Carson of Nashua and Lyman Preston of White Rock.

The bride wore a Nassau blue crepe frock with grey accessories and blue crepe. The bride graduated with the class of 1933 from the Oregon Community high school, and the groom continued his education at Mount Morris college.

After a wedding trip to Springfield, Ohio, where they will visit relatives, the couple will make their home with the bride's parents. Both young people are known to a large circle of friends, all of whom extend best wishes and congratulations.

Two Women Retire from Legislature: Dozen Seek Office

Springfield, Ill., March 5.—(AP)—Two women legislators are retiring from the Illinois House of Representatives this year. Only a dozen women entered the primary in efforts to replace them in the 1934 election.

Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, Republican member from Winnetka who is serving her third term, is one of the retiring women. She is dropping out of active politics to spend her time at Washington with her husband, Interior Secretary Harold I. Ickes.

The other who did not file for re-nomination is Miss Mary Davidson of Carthage, Democratic publisher of a weekly newspaper, Miss Davidson is ending her second term.

Leading the women candidates again is Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, a Republican, who was the first of her sex to sit in the General Assembly. Mrs. O'Neill, who once campaigned for the United States Senate against Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, is seeking to return to the House from the Will-DuPage constituency.

Mrs. Josephine Perry, Chicago Republican, is again campaigning for her seat in the House. There is one woman candidate for Congress, She is Ruth Brannon of Manhattan, a Democrat in the Elgin-Aurora district.

Signa Wolff of Chicago, a Republican, is the only female candidate for the state Senate. Women candidate for nomination to the Illinois House include: Democrats—Mary B. Gravin of Urbana, Mary Cowan McAdams of Quincy and Pansy N. Stevens of Springfield.

Republicans—Grace Nighten, Margaret K. Woods and Margaret J. Haenisch, all of Chicago; Bernice T. Van Der Vries of Winnetka; and Leota Willis of Metropolis.

Horseradish Gives "Point" to a Dish

By SISTER MARY
NEA Service Staff Writer
The tang of horseradish has a decided tonic effect at this season of the year and the clever cook uses it to good advantage in many combinations.

Roast beef with its horseradish sauce is a time-honored combination, but there are many other foods, vegetables and meats, that gain interest by a suggestion of this zesty root.

Broiled or boiled fish, veal, pork and ham are vastly improved if served with a horseradish sauce of some description.

The sauce may be hot or cold as preferred. And while horseradish itself has little real value, the sauce to which it is added increases the food worth of the meal by many calories—according to its ingredients. With a meat or fish lacking in fat a rich sauce is desirable.

Many vegetables and salads acquire "point" by the addition of a bit of grated horseradish. Just as the discreet use of garlic on a crumb of bread in French dressing adds an indescribable flavor, so a little horseradish is needed to give pep in numerous instances. Mild flavored vegetables such as spinach and green beans become flavory and savory when seasoned lightly with horseradish.

Spinach with Horseradish Cream
Two cups cooked and chopped spinach, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-2 cup cream, 1 teaspoon of grated horseradish, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

Put butter, cream, horseradish and salt in a sauce pan. Add prepared spinach and stir over the fire until very hot. Add lemon juice and serve at once.

An excellent sauce for steamed fish is made by adding four tablespoons prepared horseradish to two cups rich cream sauce. The sauce should be made when wanted for serving because the acid of the horseradish will thin it.

Horseradish Cream (Cold)
One-half cup whipping cream, 4 tablespoons prepared horseradish, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

Chill cream and horseradish as well as bowl and beater. Whip the cream until firm. Add remaining ingredients and serve.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALBERT G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education,
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Not Free to Gain

While visiting a school recently, I noticed a little girl whom I mentally catalogued as a case of malnutrition. When the opportunity came I asked her how much milk she was drinking. To my surprise she answered "a quart a day."

This called for investigation, so I sought the principal and the school nurse for information. From them I learned what we should all suspect in similar cases. This child was not "free to gain," because in spite of the milk, her habits and handicaps were such as to offset the benefits.

At home she was allowed to stay up until a very late hour listening to the radio, and two or three nights every week she went to the late movies with her parents. Her teeth were in very bad condition. Several times a year she suffered attacks of tonsillitis. Her diet was deficient in vegetables and fruits, and at the table she was called "finicky." The moral is "don't expect miracles without first removing all obstacles."

The "perfect attendance" game, in which children are the pawns, will be discussed by Dr. Ireland next week.

Mothers-in-Law Get Break Today in Amarillo, Tex.

Amarillo, Tex., Mar. 5.—(AP)—Amarillo husbands greeted their mothers-in-laws with flowers and expressions of respect today.

As Mother-in-Law Day and a deluge of orders for sweet peas—the flower selected by those honored because "it is cheap"—wiped out florists' stocks despite the fact they had made ready for the occasion. One florist laid in a supply of 10,000 sweet peas, as well as other flowers.

It was decreed that this city "show its expressions of love, respect and genuine understanding of the place our mother-in-laws hold in our hearts and affections."

Knocked mother-in-law jokes were taboo and the observance was strictly one of tribute. The Mother-in-Law Club of Texas, sponsoring the program, has a creed calling for elimination of abuses and unjust criticisms which mothers of married children "have suffered for 2,500 years."

"Not at too long to abuse anyone, or any group," said Gene A. Howe, Amarillo publisher who started the movement.

Will Rogers commented last night that he was proud to say he never had, in any of his writings or talks, cast any reflections on mothers-in-law. Congressmen, he explained, might be regarded as fair game, but mothers-in-law were due the respect of all.

A varied program was arranged, including a parade of mothers-in-law, their reception by city officials and an assortment of contests for the fastest, the leanest, the youngest and the oldest. The feature event was a beauty contest for mothers-in-law only.

DIXON LADIES GUESTS AT AMBOY MEETING

Members of the Amboy M. E. Ladies Missionary society met at the parsonage Tuesday for their regular meeting. The study "Christianity and Industry in America," by Taylor, was taken up with Rev. E. M. Edwards as leader.

Four guests from the Dixon society came to add enthusiasm to the group. They were Mrs. Bills, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Farlow and Miss Anderson.

Mrs. Bills gave a report of the district meeting held in Chicago and explained the Home Mission work of the year.

OLIOLOTH HATS ARE NEW SPRING NOTE

Paris.—(AP)—Olioloth hats are a last minute note in spring headgear. Marcel Rochas shows them with trim spring suits. They are generally black and are designed with four or five-inch brims turning up all around, or down in front and up in the back. They are often accompanied by black suede gloves stitched with black olioloth bands.

Helpful Hints For Housewives

Odds And Ends

Save the paraffin from the tops of jelly glasses. Wash the paraffin, dry it, and it's all ready for use again.
Always keep butter in a covered dish.
All measurements should be level.

A soap shaker will keep soap from sticking to silver when it is being washed after cleaning.

Notes On Starch

Blouses, white shirts and other clothing which require starching in "boiled starch" must not be put out to dry but folded and placed in a basket covered with a cloth to keep them evenly moist. The collars and cuffs and whatever requires "cold water" starch treatment must be dried until there is no remaining moisture.

Home-Made Starch

Rice water carefully strained makes excellent starch for blouses and such things. So have boiled rice as part of your menu on wash day, and the water from it will help with the washing. You'll feel happily efficient too.

Knapp-Bishop Wedding Saturday

A wedding of much interest to friends in Dixon and vicinity took place in Rockford Saturday, Mar. 3rd, when Miss Dorothy Lucille Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bishop, of 504 Hennepia avenue, and Gerald Knapp, also of this city, were married.

The bride, one of Dixon's most beautiful and charming girls, is a graduate of the Dixon high school of the class of 1931. She attended Coppins Business College for a year and was then secretary to Gerald Knapp of the firm of Knapp & Morris. The association formed the background for the romance which culminated in the wedding of Saturday.

The bride was handsomely gowned in blue with accessories matching, for the ceremony.
The bridegroom is a well known and highly esteemed young business man and both young people have the best wishes of hosts of friends for happiness in the future.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Knapp left for the southland. Mr. Knapp makes this trip twice each year on business and this time they will stay in Amarillo, Texas, and also visit other cities and resorts. Mr. Knapp will transact business in Amarillo. On their return from the honeymoon, in a month or so, Mr. and Mrs. Knapp will make their home in Dixon.

CIRCLE NO. 1 TO MEET WITH MRS. WHITSON

Circle No. 1 of the First Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. W. E. Whitson, 516 Highland Avenue, Friday, March 9th, at 2:30.

Mrs. A. E. Marth and committee have arranged a most inspiring and educational program.
The Scripture lesson, to be read by Mrs. H. D. Bile, tells the story of Christ's Crucifixion. Mrs. Nate Morrill and Miss Ora Floto will sing "The Old Rugged Cross." Following the prayer a group of solos from "The Messiah," will be sung by Mrs. Myrtle George, Mrs. Crawford Thomas, and Mr. Wells.

Combining the thought of Easter with that of "Good Citizenship," Mrs. H. A. White will give an address

DAYS OF CONTENTMENT IN PICTURES OF OLD.

Probably it would take a psychologist to explain just why this nation suddenly has grown so fond of looking at photographs.

Part of it, no doubt, is the same half-melancholy sort of kick one gets out of a peek into the old family album. The clothes and customs of a former day always look pleasantly grotesque, if you get far enough away from them; there is a unique sort of pleasure in looking at some gawky, fantastically garbed youth and realizing, suddenly, that is yourself as you used to look.

But there's a little more to the present popularity of old-time pictures than that. There collections of photos that date back to the 1890's and beyond give us a spy-glass through which we can peer through a door that time has closed and see an era which has gone from this earth forever.

The oddest thing about it all is that most of us, as we look on that era, have a sneaking, half-conscious wish that we might get back there.

For that bygone era—that time when gay blades rode perilous high-wheeled bicycles, and women's bathing suits were more voluminous than their street frocks are now, and minstrel shows were a popular diversion, and motorists were linen-coated pioneers who rode in frail juggernauts which were useful principally for frightening horses—that era, whatever its faults may have been, seemed at least to be a time of contentment.

We knew where we were going, then—or we thought we did, and that was about as good—and we had no doubt at all that presently we should get there.

Human society seemed to have reached a static phase, and, while its organization had certain faults that everybody recognized, it still seemed to be a pretty well-arranged and stable affair.

Radio crooners and agricultural allotment schemes were alike unheard-of. There were no traffic jams, and neither were there any Hitlers or Mussolinis or Stalins.

NRA, RFC, CWA, and all the rest were just letters in the alphabet, and the staggering emergencies that were to call them into being still slumbered peacefully in the lap of time.

It was, in short, a simpler age than this one, and it contained far less to worry about. We can't get back to it, and if we really could we probably should think twice about it.

But at this distance it has a sort of halcyon look. It is misty with enchantment, because it was a time when the problems which beset us now still were below the horizon.

BEING LOYAL TO OURSELVES.

A few weeks ago at a civic dinner in Dixon Walter Page, one time Dixonite who loves the old home town, and who is now general manager of one of the nation's major industrial organizations, the Borden Company, made the remark that it was disappointing to him to see local merchants displaying brands of merchandise that are competitive with the products of the Borden Company. His point is well taken. It is disappointing to think that Dixon people would buy anything that is manufactured elsewhere when they could buy a superior quality of the same thing that is made by Dixon workmen, manufactured by Dixon enterprise. It is not only a matter of being loyal to local institutions, it amounts to loyalty to ourselves. Every can of Borden milk consumed in Dixon means work for Dixon workers and better market for dairy farmers in this vicinity. We do not know whether dealers in wire screen stock goods other than that manufactured by the Reynolds Wire Company but Dixon buyers should insist upon the Reynolds product. Dixon people should ask for Brown Shoe Company shoes. All of this is simply a matter of advancing our own interests. No cement other than that manufactured by the Medusa Company at Dixon should be used here.

What would happen to Dixon without these industries? The business life of the city would collapse. Workmen would have to move to other centers to find work. Property values would vanish and Dixon would become just a wide place in the road.

Certainly the people of this vicinity have a better reason for buying Dixon made products than do the people anywhere else on earth. When we fail to do so it must be thoughtlessness. Let us keep it in mind that as a matter of self preservation and self improvement we should buy the products of Dixon concerns whenever possible.

MR. BORAH'S COMPLAINT.

Complaints against the NRA are solicited. One already on hand was filed publicly by Senator Borah in the following language:

"Any scheme which does not protect the individual citizen from unjust charges and prices, which fails to insure to him economic justice, and which fails to give small and independent business a fair chance in the struggle for existence is a libel upon government, a travesty upon justice, and a brutal, indefensible system, regardless of whether you call it new freedom, old freedom, rugged individualism, or planned industrialism."

STATISTICS OF RE-EMPLOYMENT AGENCY IN DIXON

Interesting Figures Compiled by Tim Sullivan Today

The Lee County Re-Employment office in the city hall has completed an interesting table of statistics which was released today, covering the vocations for which help can be supplied. The list is for the information of both industrial or private business of the county and an added duty to the office is the task of making a survey of the county and contacting employers who may be able to utilize some of the various classifications of employment. Several businesses have been taking advantage of the office here to supply work for the unemployed and part of the program is to be extended in the county tour which is to be made within a few days.

The plan of publishing the list is for the accommodation of the general public who are in need of help and to furnish work for those who are registered and are on the unemployed list. The program is of wider scope than the confines of Lee county as arrangements have been made to supply workers in other northwest Illinois counties where the particular tradesmen are not available. The total registrations at the local county headquarters today numbered 2,152 both male and female.

The list as compiled by Tim Sullivan, who is in charge of the Lee County Re-Employment office under the classification of inactive registrations, which covers those now employed through the agency of the local office, showing the number furnished employment under the different classifications, follows:

Classifications
Accountants 3; architects 1; appraisers 1; auto mechanics 13; barbers 3; bakers 1; bricklayers 4; blacksmiths 5; butchers 1; carpenters 30; cement workers 3; cement finishers 1; civil engineers 3; clothes cleaners 1; construction engineers 8; construction labor 8; power crane operators 3; chemist 2; cooks 5; electricians 1; farm hands 87; factory workers 43; stationary fireman 3; foremen 16; foundry workers 3; gravelmen 1; truck gardeners 4; garage workers 1; grader operators 4; general mechanics 5; general laborers 47; hospital attendants 1; hotel workers 1; hoist operators 1; lathers 1; linemen 6; leather shoe workers 17; lumbermen 2; maids 1; masons 1; miners 1; molders 3; millwrights 3; nurses 5; office workers 19; oilers 4; painters 21; plasterers 2; plumbers 3; quarrymen 3; railroad workers 62; road laborers 8; rockmen 2; salesmen 21; sheet metal workers 1; shop mechanics 6; filling station attendants 2; steam fitters 1; stone crusher 1; teamsters 8; teachers 3; tinsmiths 1; tilers 1; truck drivers 49; watchmen 2; well drillers 1; wood workers 4; janitors 1.

WALTON NEWS

Walton—The public sale of Joseph O'Malley was largely attended and everything sold good.

George Beron and family moved on Thursday to the farm vacated by Royce Nichol.

The recent cold weather was very disagreeable to the farmers. The work on the church property is nearing completion.

Miss Anna McCoy was a Dixon shopper Saturday.

The home talent play which is being put on in the hall March 17 promises a great success. Everyone is invited to attend and have a good time.

The recent rain was very much appreciated by the farmers. Messrs. Duffy and Harm have moved to their new home.

RUGGED INDIVIDUALS

Has the body been lowered into the grave? Is rugged individualism really dead? Must everyone, indeed, be a carbon copy of everyone else? Or what has really happened?

It is needless to review the difference, socially, between this day and the vanished past. Everyone recognizes the difference. Crafts-men have given their places to routine machine operators. Education (or propaganda, if you prefer) can be flung to the remote sections of the world as easily as one can talk to a visible audience. But the fact that mass thought and mass action has nearly replaced the old-time individualism is well known, and nothing further need be said.

One the face of it then, it would seem that rugged individualism is in the grave, or that it should be. Probably whether or not it has gone depends upon the judges' point of view. Horace Greeley's "go-west-young-man" individualism belongs to the past because there is no "west". But how about individualism of thought?

Did you ever notice that the best comedian is the one whose remarks are new? The funniest jokes are the ones we've never heard before. That's why Will Rogers' spontaneous wit goes on and on while the parrot wisecrackers of the airwaves last only a few months at the most. But we can't all be as witty as Rogers, of course.

Well, how about singing, or teaching, or writing or acting? Can any machine do these things? And there's just plain, ordinary thinking; machines can never think.

We are living in a complicated society, to repeat an overused statement. The mere fact that it is complicated makes the need for great leaders. No machine can lead.

No, individualism isn't dead. Wherever thought is needed, individual human beings are needed. The color is changed, but it's the same object under the surface. In fact the whole difference between this day and the past is mental rather than a matter of circumstance.

Daily Health Talk

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Asthma belongs to that group of diseases which is called by the descriptive name of hyper-sensitive-ness. Hay fever, hives, sick headache and eczema are others.

These diseases cannot be passed on from one individual to another by contact. However, the child of a parent or parent who suffer from one of the hyper-sensitive diseases is more likely than the general run of population to suffer from the same conditions.

The treatment of bronchial asthma, as the treatment of all of the hyper-sensitive group conditions, depends upon the determination of its cause or causes responsible, and upon the elimination of contact between the sufferer and the substances to which he is sensitive.

This is at times difficult to achieve, since an individual may be sensitive to a wide variety of substances. However, certain general rules are as follows:

Do not have any pet animals. Keep your home as dust-free as possible. Clear your bedroom of all dust-

The Timmys watched the beetle box, and wee Duncy said, "Look how he rocks that funny looking mushroom. He can fight like everything."

"Why, say, if he should box with me, I'd be as frightened as could be. One look at him and I am sure that I'd forget to swing. His eyes pop out. His chin caves in. I will bet he couldn't spread a grin. And, just look at the pointed horns that stick out of his head."

"No sir! I am not a lad to fight with things that fill me full of fright." "Aw, you are just a little coward," Scouty promptly said.

"If some more fat gloves can be found, I am game to box the bug a round." "Okay," snapped Nature Nick. "There are some gloves by yonder tree."

"Just put them on and box a bit. Be careful, though, how hard you hit. The beetle might get mad, and he's as strong as he can be."

collecting objects. The floor should be painted, waxed or covered with linoleum. Only a small rag rug, to be washed every week, should be used.

Do not have heavy curtains or wall hangings. Discard all soft pillows, cushions and overstuffed furniture. Mattresses and pillows should be of pure horsehair.

Avoid the use of insect powders in your home—do not use the liquid forms of insecticides but rather the paste form.

Avoid, as far as possible, fumes from leaky gas stoves, electric refrigerators, kerosene lamps or stoves, paint and varnish remover, fresh paint.

Do not overload your stomach with heavy meals. Make fruits and vegetables the major part of your diet. Avoid carbonated waters, which liberate gas in the stomach. Do not allow yourself to become constipated.

Remember that fatigue and worry often aggravate the asthmatic condition.

Operetta Given by Patients at Dixon State Institution

Mrs. Gilmore, instructor at the Dixon state hospital, is enjoying a visit from her daughter who lives in Bloomington.

Dr. Gladys Dick of Chicago has returned to Chicago after conducting some research work at the state institution.

Mrs. Zoltan Glottar and little son are getting along nicely. Master Thomas Robert is the most popular young man at the Dixon state hospital and Dr. Glottar is by all odds, the proudest.

Mrs. H. E. Marcellus, who has been very ill is somewhat improved in health.

The operetta given by the patients at the recreational building was a great success and the attendance Friday evening filled the big building.

Religious services were conducted for both patients and employees at the customary hours on Sunday.

This evening the weekly band concert will be enjoyed and moving pictures will entertain the patients Thursday evening.

SALARIES PAID BANKERS DURING YEAR REPORTED

Ten Received Hundred Thousand or More in Strenuous Year

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—During one of the most trying years in American bank history, a year in which the nation saw an unprecedented bank "holiday," ten bankers were drawing annual salaries of $100,000 or more, and 370 others were receiving more than $25,000.

The disclosure of bank salaries for the year ending last June was made today by the Senate Banking committee.

Names of the officials were included in a bulging report submitted to the Senate by the Federal Reserve Board in response to a resolution adopted last spring at the request of Senator Costigan (D-Colo.).

H. C. McEldowney, president of the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, and W. W. Aldrich, chairman of the governing board of Chase National Bank, were the highest paid bank officers in the United States, the report indicated.

Wiggin Paid Well
The Pittsburgh banker received $165,000 during the year. His rate of compensation at the start of the year was $180,000 but later it was cut to $120,000.

Aldrich's compensation, meanwhile, was rising. He received $151,744 during the year, but at the end of the year his salary rate was $175,000, making him the highest paid banker in the United States.

This was a far cry, however, from the compensation received by his predecessor, Albert H. Wiggin. The banking committee's own investigation had disclosed that Wiggin's peak salary was $250,000 a year and that in some years his total compensation was almost $300,000.

Everyday Religion

"SIN IS NEWS."

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)

"Whichever I read in a sermon," said Mr. Dooley, "that the world is going to pot, that humanity is on the downgrade, and the future of the race is destruction, I can always console myself with what I thought."

"What's that?" asked Mr. Hennessy, whose long-suffering endurance as the butt for the wit and wisdom of Mr. Dooley entitles him to a crown.

"It isn't so," said Mr. Dooley. "That's a consolation worth having! Sin is news. It's because they know this that ministers are cheerful."

At first the saying that sin, for all it is so old, is really news may seem grim and cynical, but it is in reality the very opposite. A sound optimism lies behind it. Good living is the expected thing and takes place with an unexciting regularity—it does not get an inch in the papers.

Crime is news; divorce is news; girl mothers are news; the wrong doing of a clergyman is news—just as railway accidents are news. Why? Because such things are exceptional, a departure from the ordinary. No editor would give even a paragraph to a railway journey without an accident.

Suppose it were not so. Suppose sin were the usual thing and virtue the exception. Then, if anybody did a good deed the reporters would rush to the scene to write it up. We should have such headlines as these:

"Great Sensation: Wild Excitement: Honesty of Chicago Cashier Discovered at Last; Whole City Shocked."

"Startling Revelations in New York! Affectionate Mother Found by Accident. Report Unfortunately Confirmed!"

"Strange News From Philadelphia! Well Known Business Firm Meets all its Obligations! Investigation Demanded!"

"Odd Happening in Ohio! Married Couple Live Happily Together! Unheard of in this Region."

Yet if we actually read such flaming headlines, we should think that the editor and his staff had gone off their heads.

Mr. Dooley was right. Love, fidelity, kindness, honesty, courage, self-denial, are the rule. Sin is news, and from this point of view, good news!

MONDAY, March 5

(Read Matthew XVIII:19-20)

"If Two of You Shall Agree"

There is a power in concerted action which has not yet been explored. When Jesus said, "If two or three of you shall agree," he touched on one of the deep principles of life. The Jews learned in their conquest of Canaan that while one can chase a thousand two can put ten thousand to flight. It is a principle operative on the battlefield and also in the church. Two men praying together can accomplish many times more than either of them can accomplish praying alone. When we pray together we kindle one another. One piece of wood on the hearth flickers and smolders, but two pieces of wood help each other to create a blaze. By praying together we increase our confidence and courage and open the way for God to give us fuller measures of power. "Where two or three are gathered together in my name there am I in the midst of them." This means He will be present in a more wonderful way. He will do things which He cannot do if we pray each one for himself.

Prayer: Almighty Father, we at this time present our common wants and supplications unto Thee. We are all sinners asking forgiveness, and we are all frail and ignorant needing guidance. Without Thee we can do nothing; but assisted by Thy grace we can do those things which are pleasing in Thy sight. Amen.

Don't BE A LAXATIVE SLAVE

Flush Clean with Non-Irritating Pluto Water

Ever hear of "cathartic constipation"? Medicine laxatives cause it. Most of them work by irritating the membranes of the digestive tract—an unnatural method!

That's why more than 50,000 physicians recommend Pluto Water. For Pluto is not a drug or medicine laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive results in less than one hour. It cannot give you the laxative habit!

Pluto Water is gentle—but speedy. It promptly opens the pylorus valve—permitting the flush to enter the intestines without anxious hours of waiting.

The proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water—is practically tasteless. Take it whenever sluggish—get results within an hour—and end that laxative habit! In two sizes: Splits (8 ounces), 25c—large bottles (3 times the quantity), 50c. At all druggists.

ILLINOIS CROP OF PEACHES TO BE VERY SMALL

Last Week's Freezing
Weather Killed
Most of Buds

Centralia, Ill., March 5.—(AP)—Southern Illinois peaches, famous the country over, will be few this year.

Reports received by the Illinois Fruit Growers Exchange here disclosed today the sub-zero temperatures last week killed virtually all of the peach crop in all but two counties in southern Illinois.

Harry W. Day, manager of the Fruit Exchange, said reports from the Centralia area indicated nearly all the peach buds had been killed. He estimated the peach crop in the Centralia area would average only about five per cent.

In one orchard, Day said, out of 200 buds examined only ten were found to be alive.

In Union county, another famous peach growing section, said that only a few live buds were found on the high ground and that all the buds on the lower ground had been killed.

In the Vincennes area, where temperatures of from 8 to 18 degrees below zero were recorded only a few buds remain.

Peach growers in Massac and Johnson counties although suffering from heavy damage report sufficient buds remain to assure at least a fair crop.

When Fascisti Was Born

Fascisti is the name given to the members of a movement formed in Italy in 1920 to offset the work of the "reds" and radicals in that country who had become powerful during the World war. The Fascisti, headed by Benito Mussolini, seized control of the Italian government on October 30, 1922, and affirmed their allegiance to the king. Mussolini's government became that of a dictator, supported by the king. The emblem of the Fascisti originated in the word fasces, which was a bundle of rods, containing an ax, carried by the lieutenants before the magistrates of ancient Rome as a symbol of authority.

LOWELL PARK'S IMPROVEMENTS NEAR COMPETE

CWA Projects Greatly Enhance Beauty and Accommodations

The extensive improvements in Lowell park which have been in progress throughout the winter as CWA projects, are drawing to a close, and with marked results. Very notable improvements have been made for the accommodation of the thousands of visitors who enjoy the privileges of the vast wooded tract each summer.

The park now affords four miles of improved hard surfaced drives, with the addition of a new roadway three-tenths of a mile in length which passes through the open field to the south, which is known as the pinetum. In this section the seedling pines of the several varieties adapted to this locality are set out as seedlings and are permitted to grow to a size suitable for transplanting throughout the park.

President Louis Pitcher of the park board stated today that plans were completed for the conversion of this field into a pinery which will be enjoyed by future generations. During the winter about 2,000 small pines have been removed from the pinetum and transplanted throughout the park, replacing trees which had been removed. Several years ago 5,000 pines were planted as seedlings in this field and each season, some of the mature trees have been transplanted in the park.

To Extend Pinetum

The park board recently completed plans for extending the pinetum with the setting out of approximately 2,500 seedling pines this coming spring. One thousand of these will be white pines and the remaining 1,500 will be other varieties of pines adapted to this vicinity.

The park roadways have been greatly improved through the winter months. Approximately 7,000 yards of stone have been taken from the quarry in the park. The south road has been resurfaced, other roadways have been widened and several hundred yards of rock has been used in the construction of dry walls and banks for the protection of the roadways.

Three new shelter houses have been constructed and those which have been in use have been repaired, native stone being used entirely in this work. All of these shelter houses are equipped with stone fire places and according to President Pitcher of the park board, plans are being considered for the building of two additional shelters in the park. A fine new native stone fire place has also been built in the Lowell park lodge.

A storm drain ditch near the beach house has been eliminated. Tiling was placed in the ditch to carry the storm water to the river and the ditch has been covered over to provide additional space for the parking of cars near the beach.

Boiling Point of Water

The boiling point of water depends on atmospheric pressure as well as temperature. At sea level with a mean atmospheric pressure it is 212 degrees Fahrenheit but it decreases or increases one degree with each 538 feet altitude. Hence at 538 feet above sea level water would boil at 211 and at the same distance below sea level it would require 213 degrees of heat to bring water to a boil.

Self-Sacrifice Counts Most

It is a simple truth of fact that the lives which have had the most inspiring influence for good in human history have been lives of self-sacrifice.

Singing Fountains for 1934 Fair

A feature of the 1934 Century of Progress Exposition which attracted an unusual amount of interest was the Singing Fountains outside the Firestone exhibit. They will, in a more elaborate way, be a striking feature of the 1934 Exposition. The flow of water, rising and falling to the strains of music, is being increased, and a wider range of colors in the electric lighting effects will be a new feature.

AMUSEMENT PARKS LURE MANY PEOPLE

America and Europe Delight in Roller Coasters.

Washington. — Merry-go-rounds, roller coasters, old mills, ferris wheels, pop corn stands, and swimming pools are in store for Ethiopia (Abyssinia), in the heart of north-eastern Africa. So delighted was a prince of the royal house of Ethiopia with the thrills afforded by a New Jersey amusement park during his recent visit to this country, that he announced his decision to build a similar playground in his native land.

"Amusement parks, in one form or another, have long enlivened the outskirts of great metropolitan centers in both Europe and America, and the sales of amusement devices, confectios, and souvenirs has been an important item of trade," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

Coney Island Most Noted. "During the latter part of the last century and early in this century, amusement parks sprang up all over the United States. Nearly all of them were reproductions, big and small, of Coney Island. Today, practically every large city in this country has a ferris-wheel-land where thrills are built to order and frivolity is king.

"Coney, a small island in the borough of Brooklyn, about five miles long and from one-half to three-quarters of a mile wide, is the most famous amusement resort in the United States. The island, at the entrance to New York bay, was one of the first landing places of the early Dutch explorers of New Amsterdam.

"Steamboats began making trips to Coney island's beach from Manhattan in 1840, the steam railroad in 1875, and since the city's subway system and modern highways were extended from the heart of New York city to the seashore, Coney island has become the world's busiest resort. As many as a million merry-makers, equivalent to the entire population of a city the size of Rome, Italy, have thronged Coney on a single summer's day. Most of them came to swim or walk the boardwalk, but hundreds of thousands patronized the various amusement booths and concessions.

"Other hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers in search of pleasure go to Rye Beach on the Sound, and to Palisade park whose amusement devices flash their myriad lights across the Hudson from the New Jersey shore.

"Washingtonians are not surprised when diplomats and government clerks join the nightly throng at Glen Echo, the glittering realm of escape for the nation's Capital. Baltimore has its Carlin's Park Philadelphia its Willow Grove, while busy Pittsburghers manage time for a jaunt to nearby Kennywood park or to Westview.

Chicago Fair's Midway.

"Chicagoans, in addition to their other popular attractions, this year have had the Century of Progress 'midway' with two of the most exciting roller coasters ever built. St. Louis has several amusement parks, one of them being Forest Park High lands.

"In the Far West, Ocean beach in San Francisco dispels the occasional gloom of sunny California, and Venice and Ocean park render the same service for teeming Los Angeles.

"Paris and Berlin both have their Luna parks, where circuses, shooting galleries and sideshow demonstrations their perennial appeal. Viennese plebeian life relies on the Volksplatz for its happiness. London's Kussall, at Southend-on-Sea, is a cockney paradise, and gives many types of recreation to tired Londoners in search of a holiday.

In Moscow, the Park of Culture and Rest draws daily throngs. "The Tivoli in Copenhagen is one of the most historic amusement parks in Europe. This 'state within a state' with its mid-city location, entertains from a million and a half to two million pleasure seekers a season. It was first opened in 1843, and has been constantly changed and modernized since that time. Besides the usual midway attractions it offers splendid musical programs to its visitors, excellent dramatic entertainment and renowned eating places."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The son of a titled Englishman and a servant girl, Pablito knows nothing of his parents. When 3 years old he ran away from ANGELA, the old nurse in whose care he was left, who beat and otherwise mistreated him. Since then he has lived with NORRIS NOYES, a mysterious individual who has seen better days. Their home is a shack on a lonely island.

Field receives word from his estranged wife that she and their daughter, ESTELLE, 15, are on their way to the Florida home. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

THREE weeks later the servants

gossiped in undertones that Norma Field was coming back to her husband after an absence of more than eight years. And she was bringing with her the child, a girl of 15 who, doubtless, remembered little of her home in America.

Workmen came to the camp to redecorate two suites in Field's own cottage. Pablito had not thought he would see the rooms, of which the servants talked with awe, but one day as he was helping one of the gardeners place a window box on a ledge outside the little girl's room Field strolled by. He paused, seeing Pablito.

"Have you seen the royal chambers?" he asked. There were times when Field was very democratic, though the mood was likely to vanish as quickly as it had come.

"Certainly not, sir," Pablito answered. Field liked the answer. It made him smile a little.

"Come in," he invited and Pablito followed him. The lavender, green and silver room which was Mrs. Field's seemed to Pablito suitable for an old lady. He wondered whether Field realized that it looked a retreat for a nun of a stern order atoning for too many sins of the bad world. Age and chill were in the lines and in the colors. He thought no woman could be gay in such a room.

"Like it?" Field questioned. "I am too young to like lavender," Pablito answered. "I suppose," he added, "it is a very beautiful room."

Field had a moment's reaction to the earlier days. "It cost enough," he said. Then he went on, "What does it make you think of?"

"Old Philadelphia," Pablito answered. "So you know Philadelphia? You've been there?"

"No sir—" "Philadelphia," Field thought and hung the item upon a nail on the walls of his mind. His eyes narrowed a little.

THEY went into the little girl's room next. Here Pablito smiled.

"This brings your approval, eh?" Field questioned with a little irony. Pablito nodded, liking the pastel shades and their artful blending. "Any suggestions?" Field went on, amused at the idea of asking advice from a boy who wore a pair of white cotton trousers, a bathing jersey and nothing else.

A few days later Jim Field's wife and daughter arrived at the camp.

"I see no place for books," Pablito stated.

"I haven't begun the work on either sitting room," Field heard himself answer with irritation. He had expected only awe and silence.

"She would enjoy choosing the furnishings herself," Pablito said slowly. He studied the room, smiling. It was a pretty room. He hoped she was a pretty girl.

Field considered Pablito's suggestion and wished he had thought of it himself. Nothing was done to his daughter's sitting room after that but Mrs. Field's sitting room was furnished in cold gray and dull silver.

After Field left Pablito that day he sought Juan Alvarez. "What have you found out about young Smith?" he asked.

"Nothing. He lives alone, as he said. I went there with a helper—one evening. It is a small island with no more than a shack on it. He was not there. He had gone to Key West to the second hand book shop near the water front.

"I went through his place. There are some good things in it. There is a Winslow Homer hanging—unframed—on one wall and a Penell etching—"

"What else?" Field demanded. He was not interested in these details.

THERE were clothes in a cupboard. Some of the shoes I thought looked small for him but I learned from old Tio Cono who followed him to Key West that he sold a pair of old shoes for a few cents before going to the second hand book shop. It may be that he collects old things to sell them.

There was a portrait in a silver frame of a woman holding a small boy. I judge it is of his mother and himself years ago. There are a great many books in Latin and Greek and English. He keeps chickens—"

"My God!" Field broke out. "What difference does that make?"

"Shitless squatters never have enough money for chickens or feed," Alvarez pointed out. "This boy comes of more than squatters."

"Oh, all right! Go on!"

"There is not much more to tell. But I found that many whisky bottles had been thrown in the marsh."

Field smiled; he had found a flaw in Alvarez and he pleased him. Alvarez should have known that the Smith boy was not a drinker and that some one else must live in the shack on the small island.

"Alvarez," Field said smoothly, "you are a fool. And if you watch it long enough the kettle will boil. He does not live alone—but he wants us to think so. I want to know why he wants us to think that, for the reason may be, more or less, valuable to me."

A few days later Jim Field's wife and daughter arrived at the camp. Norma Field was a drab shadow of a woman with a look of lurking fear in her eyes. Estelle, a lovely slip of a girl, had been well named in being named a star.

Pablito, who was on the beach, saw their coming and he lost his heart. Rather for the first time he was fully aware of the capacities of his heart, for as he saw Estelle he felt a hard pump under the left-hand side of his sleeveless, cotton shirt and at the same time the sting of hot blood under the tan of his cheeks. He thought she looked at him for a second with a look which blended inquiry and interest but he scoffed at himself later for this thought and called himself a fool. She was an American princess and he was—no body! He worked moodily that day, taking no part in the chatter of the men who worked near him.

FIELD noticed Pablito's startled glance at his daughter and smiled a little but he forgot it promptly in his utter absorption in Estelle who had, as his wife had written, changed remarkably since he had seen her.

"And these are your rooms," he said a moment after Pablito had become aware of how fast and how hard his heart could pound. Field wanted to put his arm around his daughter—a much practised gesture and usually an easy one for him—but he found himself stiffly conscious and afraid. He heard his wife moving around in the next apartment and heard her low-voiced orders to a maid.

"It's lovely," Estelle said softly. "I hadn't dreamed there would be anything so grand in a camp—"

She spoke a little haltingly and with the least bit of a foreign accent. Field, who was wont to think of desire and a full table as close companions, wondered with a little chill whether he could make his daughter like him. Making women love him, or pretend to, had been easy. But this was new.

"The color is lovely," she said. "I mean the combination of colors."

He was glad, he told her rather stiffly, that she liked it. "I thought," he explained, "that I would let you furnish the sitting room as you liked."

Her eyes brightened. "Oh," she said warmly, "I would like that, father. I will be fun!"

The "father" made him slip his arm through hers to press her arm to his side. He felt her hand creep into his and the gesture brought an almost forgotten sting to his eyes.

"Mother has told me much of you," he heard her say. "She said you were too busy here to come to see us but she always said I would like you."

That, Field noted mentally, would be Norma's way. To work in order to make him feel small and mean and in the wrong. He frowned a moment. Then he said a little wistfully, "Well, I suppose I shall have to leave you now."

She admitted that she felt a little tired. Then suddenly she turned, raising her oval face, and he kissed her. The camp, Field thought, leaving her, had been turned into a convent, but he smiled, thinking it.

BIG TEN CAGE SEASON TO END THIS EVENING

Badgers Seeking Tie With Wildcats for Second Position

Chicago, March 5 (AP)—Another Western Conference basketball season comes to an end tonight, with Wisconsin making a bid for a tie for second place, meeting Minnesota in the top contest of a three-game layoff.

The Badgers shoot to move up even with Northwestern in second place, Indiana meets Michigan at Ann Arbor, and Purdue's champions play Illinois at Champaign. Unless the Illinois arise to unexpected heights, Purdue will pick up the necessary points to put them past the 500 mark for the season. In Whaling Indiana, 55 to 28, at LaFayette Saturday night, Purdue increased its total points to a new record of 486. The former mark was 474, set by Indiana in 1928.

Northwestern defeated Chicago, 30 to 22, to become assured of nothing less than a tie for the runner-up position. Wisconsin retained a chance of tying the Wildcats by conquering Iowa, 35 to 32. Ohio State will close its books after meeting Ohio Wesleyan tonight.

Alfred the Great was KING of the WEST SAXONS, 871-901, who expelled the Danes and became RULER OF ENGLAND. A WHITE HOOD, lined with the college colors, tops the gown of Doctor of Arts and Letters. There are more than 555,000 civil service employees in the U. S.

and Minnesota will finish Saturday against Notre Dame.

Norman Cotton of Purdue needs to score only one point against Illinois tonight to become the Big Ten's leading basketball scorer.

Cotton today was tied with Lyle Fisher, Northwestern's center, at 118 points. Fisher finished his schedule Saturday night.

DIXON GRADERS CAPTURED CAGE MEET SATURDAY

Defeated Freeport In A Tournament Held In Sterling

The Dixon grade school basketball squad, with a record of 14 victories out of 15 games played during the winter, emerged as the winner of a tournament in Sterling Saturday evening by defeating Freeport by a score of 18 to 14. The Dixon graders went into the finals in the afternoon by virtue of their win over the Merrill school of Rock Falls by the decisive count of 29 to 2, in a game in which Dixon swamped the opposition with a total of 15 field goals, which were sunk from all angles of the floor. There were eleven schools entered in the tournament.

Besides carrying away the honor of being tournament winners, several members of the Dixon squad were selected for places on the all-tournament team. The team which was selected was composed of Reed, Freeport, and Cotter of Dixon as forwards; F. Nicklaus of Dixon at center; with Mersch of Sterling and Schultz of Rock Falls at guard positions. On the second team, Ginger, Tilton and Ankeny of the Dixon squad were selected for positions.

Enviably Record
The Dixon grade school team has enjoyed an enviable record this season and its members have developed into exceptional players as is evidenced by their record of 14 wins out of 15 games played. The team is coached by Charles Roundy, manual training instructor in the city elementary schools. The scores of Saturday's games are as follows:

Bradley Filly Rates High

Wise old Col. E. R. Bradley has high hopes for this filly of his to win the 1934 Kentucky Derby. The horse is Bazaar, whose campaign as a two-year-old last year netted five victories in 19 races for winnings totaling $42,665. She will be out to duplicate the feat of Regret the only filly ever to win a Derby.

BLONDE TERROR OF RACE TRACKS KILLED SUNDAY

Ernie Triplett Is One of Three Victims of Race Tragedy

Imperial Calif., Mar. 5—(AP)—The last checked flag has dropped for Ernie Triplett, "blonde terror" of the race tracks. Entered in a special event at the Imperial Fair yesterday, Triplett was injured fatally in a pile-up of racing cars which brought death to two other men.

George "Swede" Smith, 35-year-old veteran of Portland, Ore., died as his racer crashed into Jimmy Wilkeson's stalled car on a turn. "Hap" Happel, Hollywood mechanic, ran across the track to extricate him from the wreckage and was killed by Triplett's speeding machine.

Roaring into the turn abreast of his greatest rival, Al Gordon, the "blonde terror" swerved his machine in a futile attempt to avoid striking the mechanic. Triplett's car rocketed into the fence, ricocheted, grazed Gordon's racer and then hurtled into the air, throwing the driver clear.

Gordon's machine plowed into the fence. Both he and Wilkeson escaped with minor injuries. The 27-year-old Triplett ruled the coast speedways in 1931 and 1932, also winning the Indianapolis classic in the latter year.

Officials halted the race, awarding places on position. First went to Gordon while Triplett was awarded second place—his last prize.

Two Fine Kentucky Horses Now Occupy Hazelwood Stables

In the stables at Hazelwood, the Charles R. Walgreen estate, are to be found two very fine riding horses, thoroughbreds of Kentucky strain and well gaited. Gallant Lad will be ridden by Justin Dart and Mrs. Dart is the proud possessor of Dart's Folly, a beautiful, well trained animal. Many bridge paths and rustic bridges are being constructed under the supervision of Mr. Walgreen. Dr. Z. W. Moss, a real judge of riding horses, selected these animals for the Walgreen stables on a recent trip to the south.

DEKALB NORMAL TAKES LITTLE 19 TITLE THIS YEAR

Championship Assured by Defeat of Illinois Wesleyan

Chicago, March 5—(AP)—A new year's lease on that mythical honor of championship the Little Nineteen Conference bestows annually upon its most victorious Illinois college basketball squad was taken today at DeKalb State Normal.

The Northern Teachers were in possession of the conference title for 1934, the same honor DeKalb's team won last year for the first time since the school has been a member of the Little Nineteen.

The championship team is now scheduled to play a series of games with the University of Pittsburgh at the National Basketball Coaches' Clinic at Atlanta, Ga., March 29, 30, and 31. DeKalb's participation in this event today lacked only the official sanction of the college officials.

Methodists Lose Chance
DeKalb's second undisputed basketball title was made possible by Illinois Wesleyan's third conference defeat Thursday night at Decatur. The Methodists, who for many weeks had lead the championship race, were bowled over by Millikin, 36 to 28, losing their chance for a tie with DeKalb for first place.

Wesleyan, by this defeat, dropped to third place in the standing behind North Central. Carbondale Teachers were fourth and Millikin fifth in the final accounting.

The DeKalb team, coached by Athletic Director George Evans, played the season with only two losses out of 13 conference games. State Normal beat DeKalb 27 to 24, a loss that later was avenged by a 31 to 30 score for the northern teachers. Wesleyan beat Evans' squad 37 to 31.

Other Games of Week
Illinois College did the best work during the last week of play. The Jacksonville team drubbed Eureka 45 to 34 Wednesday and then won from Shurtleff 31 to 28, Friday. Macomb Western Teachers lost first to State Normal 40 to 38 but later defeated Shurtleff, 36 to 23. Augustana beat Knox 48 to 26 and Bradley Tech drubbed Monmouth 36 to 30 and then lost to Eureka, 36 to 29.

McKendree won a game from Charleston 39 to 38, and then was beaten by Carbondale 36 to 20. State Normal beat St. Viator, 29 to 26.

Non-conference scores were, Lake Forest 50, Valparaiso 43, St. Viator 31.

"They can't even tie us" is the new war cry of Blondy Ryan, center world series hero of 1933 and shortstop of the New York Giants. Blondy and two of his pitching pals, Hal Schumacher, left, and Roy Parmelee, are getting the jump on the rest of the Giants by starting training at Miami Beach, Fla.

Smiles in SPORTS

By NEA Service
It probably wasn't so funny when it happened, but Tim McGrath old time fight figure can look back now on the time Mysterious Billy Smith fought Australian Jim Ryan at Astoria, Ore., and have a laugh.

In those days, according to Tim's story, Astoria was a hangout for tough sailors, lumberjacks, and fishermen who loved fights. They were backing Ryan to the limit. The fight went on hot and heavy, but every time the going got rough for Ryan, he'd drop and take a nine count. Tim begged the referee to make Ryan stay on his feet, but he paid no attention to McGrath's pleading.

Finally the enraged Smith cracked Ryan on the jaw when he was on his knees. The referee at once gave the fight to Ryan—whereupon Billy turned around and led the referee.

If someone hadn't cut the light wires, McGrath and Smith might have had rather rough treatment at the hands of the referee's friends.

LEVINSKY GETS CHANCE TO SHOW STUFF ON FRIDAY

Must Win Decisively to Remain on Summer's Program
New York, Mar. 5—(AP)—King Levinsky gets a new chance to redeem himself and help Madison Square Garden in its quest for a new heavyweight challenger this week.

Picked by the Garden for a build-up campaign designed to send him into the ring against champion Primo Carnera in the summer, Levinsky tackles the hard-hitting German youngster, Walter Neusel, in the big Eighth Avenue fight palace Friday night. He will need to win decisively if he is to be of any real assistance to the Garden.

The rough and tumble Chicagoan was no particular fistic bargain in his last start at the Garden. He tried to box with Charley Massena, young and clever Pittsburgher, for seven rounds with somewhat ludicrous results and then went back to his own slam-bang style in time to receive a disputed decision in ten rounds.

Otherwise the national boxing program this week is marked only by a ten round "title" match between Barney Ross of Chicago and Frankie Klick of San Francisco in the latter's home town tonight. Between them Ross and Klick hold three championships of sorts but Ross' synthetic junior welterweight title will be the only one at stake. Ross, of course, is the world's lightweight champion while Klick is recognized in a few states as junior lightweight titleholder, the reward of his recent knockout victory over Kid Chocolate.

RECESS IS MAIN QUESTION BEFORE STATE ASSEMBLY

Decision on Adjourning Until After Primaries Up

Springfield, Ill., March 5—(AP)—The issue in the General Assembly this week will be over the primary recess—whether it is to be taken immediately or whether the Assembly is to remain in session a few weeks longer.

With nearly two-thirds of the members now engaged in contests for re-nomination, contests which culminate April 10, there will be a determined effort to recess the Assembly until after the primaries. This would result in the shelving of all proposed school relief legislation until mid-April.

Insist On Voting
Before such a recess is taken, however, legislators, especially those facing stiff primary opposition will insist on being recorded on several measures which are regarded as being highly popular with a majority of the voters.

Many insist that they get an opportunity to vote on one of the various mortgage moratoria proposals. Some Senators will demand a chance to vote on the House bill permitting the sale of beer over bars.

Others in the upper chamber—those residing in districts in which are located plants using industrial alcohol—will insist on an opportunity to make a record vote on the House bill eliminating industrial alcohol from the 50 cent gallonage tax.

Senators also will want to vote on a House bill reducing the cost of recording chattel mortgages from $3 and $5 to 50 cents downstate and $1 in Cook county.

House in Good Shape
Politically, the House finds itself in better shape than the Senate. The House has passed most of the popular bills with the exception of the mortgage moratorium proposal. If it can pass such a moratorium this week there will be few members against an immediate recess until the primary is over.

With a long list of affirmative votes on the so-called popular bills—moratoria, beer over bars, reduction in the cost of recording chattel mortgages, and removal of the tax on industrial alcohol—legislators can go back to their primary contests assured of a following even though they fail to act on school relief.

Governor Horner, however, Saturday told a delegation of Chicago school teachers that he would send a special message to the legislature when it reconvenes tomorrow urging upon it the necessity of immediate action on school relief.

What effect this may have is problematical as the members are impatient to get on the stump in their own districts.
